AUTOMATIC MESSAGE TRANSLATION

Keep your multilingual network safe and informed in their primary language

Regroup

> Increase the effectiveness of your emergency and routine mass notifications by ensuring that everyone in your organization understands your message when they receive it.

Regroup's Automatic Message Translation is an optional add-on to your account that enables administrators to have notifications automatically translated into over 80 languages based on their recipient's preferred settings.

HOW IT WORKS

Whenever you need to send an important message to your multilingual network:

1 Compose your message or quickly select a pre-programmed message template in your original language.

2 Check the box that enables automatic translations for messages and send the alert from any device.

3 Regroup will automatically detect each of your recipients' preferred language settings and translate your message accordingly.

4 Your notification is received and understood by all of your recipients, who can choose from over 80 of the world's most-spoken languages.

> Regroup's automatic translation feature works with email, SMS/text and text-to-speech (TTS) notifications.
